Dear APRIA members and friends,

I welcome you to the 2009 Beijing Annual Conference of the Asia-Pacific Risk and Insurance Association (APRIA)!

The 2009 Beijing conference will be held at Peking University during July 19-22, 2009. On behalf of the organizer of the Beijing conference, the China Center for Insurance and Social Security Research (CCISSR) of Peking University, I would like to express my warmest welcome to every one of you.

Beijing is the capital city of China, and it is also the city that will host the 2008 Olympic Games. Peking University was founded in 1898 and is the most prestigious university in China. The campus of Peking University stands near the Yuan Ming Gardens and the Summer Palace, both of which were imperial gardens.

The CCISSR, an academic organization dedicated to the research on insurance and social security in China, was established in 2003. Since its birth, the CCISSR has been making efforts to set up a platform for the communication among government, industry and academia in the fields of insurance and social security. Through a series of academic research and exchange activities, the CCISSR has made significant contribution to the development of the insurance industry and the reform of the social security system in China.

The APRIA is a wonderful family for all of us. It is a great honor for us to have the opportunity to host the Beijing conference. We will try our best in the coming months to make the Beijing conference one of the most successful in the history of APRIA.

We are looking forward to meeting you in Beijing in July 2009!
